

Alumni Form Bowling League

An Alumni Bowling League under the general chairmanship of Francis J. Mueller, Jr., '43, will begin action on September 25. It will be composed of six man teams which will meet every Thursday at 9:00 p.m.

Eight alleys at the Charles Bowling Center on Charles street have been reserved for League play. A fee of $1.00 an evening will be paid by alumni who participate. This will cover the cost of the game and a portion of the fee will go towards a banquet at the end of the season.

Teams Being Organized

At the present time, Carl F. Gottschalk, '42, August O. Hennegan, '43, and Charles Bitterli, Oct. '43 are organizing teams in their classes and Joseph Gessler, Feb. '45 is organizing a team in the 1944-45 classes.

The League is most anxious to have interested alumni of earlier classes form teams and enter into the competition, according to Chairman Mueller. Anyone interested in organizing teams from alumni members of their own class is urged to contact Mr. Mueller at Tuxedo 6929 or to leave a message at the Alumni Office in the Science Building. The Alumni Office telephone number is BELmont 9730.

Bowling Regulations

A handicap system based on scores or standings in the League will be used to give all the teams a chance to win. All six men on every team will play but only the top five scores will count in competition.

At present eight six man teams are planned but if more than this number are interested in playing, additional alleys will be reserved.

Included in the $1.00 fee is a charge of 75 cents for the games, five cents for pin boys, with the remaining twenty cents to be put towards such incidentals as prizes and the annual banquet.

Fourteen Win Scholarships

As a result of the competitive scholarship examinations held at Loyola College on Saturday, May 10, fourteen scholarships, each valued at half tuition, were awarded to students of five high schools in Maryland. Six of the scholarships were awarded to students of Loyola High School, three to Calvert Hall College, two to Mount St. Joseph College and Polytechnic and one to Ellicott City High School.

The examination consisted in a test of English and Mathematics and a Psychological Aptitude Test.

The winners were: Harry G. Beck, Jr., John J. Garland, James L. Hiser, John L. Kellerman, Jr., Charles H. Meadowcroft, and Gerard McCormick, Jr., of Loyola High School; Richard A. Bafford, John J. Coyne and Ferdinand Leimkuhler of Calvert Hall College; John J. Lentz and William A. Yannuzzi of Mt. St. Joseph; William P. O'Connor and Kenneth G. Smith of Polytechnic Institute; and Edwin S. Addison of Ellicott City High School.

Carl Rehling Plays At Prom Tomorrow

Peggy Prenger

Carl Rehling

The Junior Prom, Loyola's biggest social event of the year, will be presented tomorrow night, June 7, in the Gymnasium at Evergreen.

Carl Rehling, popular local musician, has been selected to supply the music. Dancing will be from 9 to 1, and the bids are available at $2.50 per couple. Dress is optional; semi-formal or formal.

Peggy Prenger Is Prom Queen

It has been announced by Paul Feeley, president of the May '47 Junior class, that the Prom Queen will be Miss Peggy Prenger.

The Prom committee, headed by J. Allan Panuska, and including William Grill, Ted Heying, Joe Davis, Manely Gately, James Laster and Buns Vidali, has announced that neither expense nor effort has been spared in securing appropriate decorations, soft music and novel programs.

Distinctive Favors Featured

As has been the usual custom, the nature of the favors will be kept a secret until tomorrow night, the night of the Prom, but it may be hinted that they are very original. These favors, of course, are restricted to those members of the class sponsoring the Prom.

Refreshments will be served during the intermissions in the recreation room.

Large Attendance Expected

Because of the fact that this will be the last formal function of the current school year, a large attendance is already assured.

However, a few bids have been reserved for those students and alumni who, for various reasons, had found it previously impossible to attend. These may be obtained tomorrow night at the door.

Burke Awarded Jenkins Medal

Terrence E. Burke was judged the best speaker and was awarded the Jenkins Gold Medal for Debate in the Annual Prize Debate held in the library at Evergreen on Sunday afternoon, June 1. The topic was "Resolved That Labor Should Be Granted A Guaranteed Annual Wage." The judges were the Rev. Lee Bradley, S.J., the Rev. Joseph Dougherty, S.J., and Mr. Frank Plogman.

Burke upheld the negative issues of the argument and was assisted by Edward F. Shea. The affirmative team was composed of Raymond L. Clemmens and Francis X. Gallagher. Dudley M. Shoemaker, retiring president of the Bellarmine Debating Society, presided as chairman. Each speaker delivered a ten minute constructive speech. Following the main speeches, there was a five minute intermission followed by four five-minute rebuttals.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the final meeting of the year on Thursday, May 26. J. Allan Panuska was named president, Edward F. Shea, vice-president, and James Mitchell, secretary.

Oratorical Contest Schedule Announced

Eliminations in the Lee Oratorical Contest will be held on Friday, June 13. One representative of each of the 25 speech classes and several members of the Student Body who are not members of any speech class will participate in the contest.

Participants will deliver six minute speeches on topics of their own choice. Three instructors of speech have been chosen to judge the contest.

Finals for the eight remaining contestants will be held on Sunday, June 23.

Senior Officers To Meet June 13

Officers of the three classes to graduate in 1948 will meet at 8 p.m. on Friday, June 13, to select an editor for the 1948 Year Book. Organization and policies of the Evergreen will also be discussed at the meeting.

It was decided at a preliminary meeting held in the office of the President on May 28 that the classes to graduate in January, May and July 1948 would publish one annual which will appear in June, 1948. Members of all three classes will aid in the production of the book.

Members of the staff of the 1947 Evergreen will be present at the meeting to give advice and technical suggestions.

The meeting will be held in the President's office in the Faculty Residence.

Athletic Dinner Honors Sports Champions

Loyola's varsity and B squad athletes will be feted and the most successful year in the school's sports history will be celebrated when the Athletic Association presents a buffet supper in the Evergreen gymnasium on June 14. Activities will commence at 8 P. M.

Members of the varsity basketball, baseball, tennis, golf, soccer, crosscountry, lacrosse, track, swimming and wrestling teams and representatives of the B Squad basketball and baseball contingents have been invited. These athletes will be presented their varsity 'L' monograms, and in addition, several special honors and awards will be given.

Ned Stevenson, popular member of the English department faculty and coach of the B squad clubs, has been selected as toastmaster, and has joined with other alumni in rounding out a favorable entertainment program for the occasion.

One of the special features of the evening will be the awarding of the Adam Hat Sports Welfare Trophy to Jim Lacy, dazzling basketball and tennis operative, who was adjudged the most valuable athlete in the school in a poll taken.

Seated: Thomas Comber, Robert Sweeney, Frank Kunkel, William Wiegand, Dudley Shoemaker, Richard Hartman and Terrence Burke.

Election of officers for the coming term and the political separation of the May and September Freshman classes highlighted the first Student Council meeting of the Spring Term. Dudley Shoemaker presided at the May 26 meeting for the first time in his new capacity as President of the Student Council.

A resolution by James Bowen, representing the September Freshmen, moved the separation of the May and September classes, and for separate representation on the Council of the May class. Heretofore the two classes had been merged. The resolution was adopted, and plans were announced to elect May Freshman officers.

The Council offices vacated by the May graduates were filled, after nominations and secret balloting, by Terrence Burke, vice-president; Frank Kunkel, secretary; and Richard Hartman, treasurer.

Seventy-Five GIs Attend Night School

Approximately seventy-five officers and enlisted men from camps in and around Baltimore are at present taking courses in the Evening School of Adult Education.

Under a plan set up by the Army Educational Department, the government pays tuition and other fees. Transportation is provided to and from camp.

The majority of soldiers are connected with the Counter Intelligence Corps Training Center located at Camp Holabird. This represents the first time members of the Armed Forces have attended Loyola College in a group.

Most of those attending were students at other colleges before their induction into the Army. Their courses include: Business Law, the Psychology of Speech and modern languages.

Whence Green And Gray?

The mystery of where Loyola school colors of green and gray originated was given a possible solution last week.

According to a graduate of the class of '22, the choice was made when the College moved from Calvert Street to Evergreen 25 years ago. The high school retained the blue and gold insignia and new colors were needed for the college.

After studied opinion and a student referendum, green was adopted as one color because the site on which the College was to be located was named Evergreen. Gray was chosen as symbolizing the South, Baltimore being below the Mason-Dixon line.

If our source was in error, we would appreciate hearing from Alumni acquainted with the subject.

News in Brief

More About Dates

To the Editor of THE GREYHOUND
Dear Sir:

According to a letter published recently in THE GREYHOUND (May 2), Mr. David Nottingham states that the best solution of the lack of things to do on a date would be the construction of recreation centers for the youth of the City. I agree that there is a decided lack of such facilities in Baltimore in comparison to other cities but I do not agree that this is the only solution to the problem.

Most young Baltimoreans confine their weekend activities to attending movies, dances and parties. These three apparently comprise the gamut of entertainment facilities in this hapless community.

Of course this is not universal, but many young people allow the enigma of the movies to enroll them in the National Society of Time Wasters . . .

What To Do

. . . But there are really many other things that can be done around Baltimore at present even with the prevailing lack of facilities. For instance . . . organize a group to attend some of the summer stock sessions around the city like the Hilltop aggregation, or the Ramsey Streett Players (NOT Ramsey Street Players). Or else organize a group that enjoys going to Fords, the Lyric or to summer concerts in the parks.

If you like sports, round up a few buddies and their dates and buy a strip of fight tickets. Or if you enjoy swimming or playing tennis, get a party together and play. In this way you can have a good time and also sharpen your form. You might throw up a few lights in somebody's yard and play some night badminton.

For Jazz Addicts

Another idea is to form a little society that enjoys playing bridge or listening to music. Then, when date-time comes around, go to somebody's house and enjoy yourself.

If you like good jazz, tune in Saturday afternoon to the 2:30 Jazz program. If you can find a recorder, make some records of such men as Wild Bill Davidson, George Brunis or Georgie Wettling as they play over the air.

If you like photography, get a few kindred souls together and improve your technique. For a small investment and with the co-operation of someone with a little extra space, you can construct a darkroom and learn to process all of your own pictures.

But remember, the main thing is to stick with a group. In this way, you can't become bored, for even if the entertainment is bad, you can have a good time laughing at it.

The main difficulty with new ideas for dates seems to lie in the fact that girls refuse to accept innovation. They have been doing the same things all their lives (i. e. movies, dances, parties) and now they are in a rut.

If, however, a few fellows who really want to enjoy themselves for a change would get together more and plan ideas like those suggested, they would find a great change in their enjoyment of dates.

And if the women don't like it, they'll learn to,—and before long, they will be making suggestions too. Then the familiar box office will become a last resort instead of the first thought when Saturday night rolls around.

Meet The Faculty

Dr. Frederick G. Reuss, professor of German and Economics, was born in Wurzburg, Germany. He studied at the University of Munich where he received his M. A. in Law and Political Science. Shortly after he received another M. A. from the University of Kiel in Economics. It was in his native city, at the University of Wurzburg, that he received his doctorate in Political Economy.

For a short time, he taught at the University of Munich Extension and practiced law; however, he soon changed his career and became a professional worker for the Ministry of Finance. Finally he was appointed head of the Division of Social Security in Ministry of Transportation, and with the title 'Councillor of State' he had considerable influence and social prestige.

In 1937, Dr. Reuss found his name was on the blacklist as the result of his viewpoints toward the Nazi regime. He retired from office. At this time the Gestapo invited him for a short visit to a concentration camp. While there he was advised that his opinions concerning the state might cause him to be not merely a visitor but a "resident" of the camp.

He applied a few months later for a fellowship to study Sociology at the Catholic University of America. He was accepted and immediately left Germany, never to return.

Besides teaching at Loyola, Dr. Reuss is a member of the Goucher College faculty. He is married, the father of a boy and a girl.

Dr. Reuss occupies his spare time with his two hobbies, yachting and photography. He was one of the first owners of the Leica.

Student Opinion:

Student Vote Split On Class Meetings

by Bill Heffner

Of the three innovations included in the second GREYHOUND Poll of the year for student considerations, two were approved by a large majority while on the other opinion was divided.

The question concerning semi-formal dances showed that 38% of the voters believe things are acceptable as they now stand, while 62% favor a change in the system.

Corsages
Abolition of corsages at semi-formals .....	36%
Abolition of semi-formal dances .....	26%
Continuance of present systems .....	38%

Of those in favor of a change, 36% are in favor of abolishing corsages at semi-formal dances, while 26% went even further believing that the semi-formal dances themselves should be abolished.

P. A. System O. K.'d

A public address system for the cafeteria and science building smoking room, to broadcast school news and perhaps music, was approved by 73% of the students. The plan to set one period a week aside for class meetings was liked by 54%, with 46% against. Some confusion may have arisen as to whether the period should be a free or a class period; actually, the proposal calls for a class period which some will have as lunch period.

After several months of pro and con on the question of subsistence, student opinion remains exactly the same as in THE GREYHOUND Poll of two months ago. Both polls showed that 80% of voters favored an increase in subsistence for married veterans, while 77% favored an increase for single veterans.

Three Year Course

The three-year course now in effect at Loyola is approved by 68% of students, while 21% think the usual four-year course is better.

Comments on THE GREYHOUND ranged from bitter innuendo to indulgent approval. 37% favored the theory that THE GREYHOUND is improving, while a like number believed it is getting worse. 26% thought it was staying the same.

Additional Faculty Changes Announced

Four new professors have been added to the Faculty of Loyola College, it was announced by the Dean's Office. They are Mr. Grigg, Mr. Thompson, Mr. John Pugh and Mr. James Perrot. Mr. Pugh and Mr. Perrot, both graduates of Loyola College, are teaching Speech during the Spring Term.

Ouch!

- Student Polls;
- A. B. O. K.?

We left ourselves wide open in last week's GREYHOUND poll with those questions about what the student thought of the college publication. (See poll results on page 3). The results were what we deserved, and we will try to act accordingly.

May the WATCHDOG rest in peace. Student opinion was almost unanimous against this traditional gossip piece. While most agree that the idea behind the column is good enough, the overwhelming difficulties consequent upon securing items featuring different names every issue were, frankly, too much for us. The student body has grown; our Watchdog's ability to ferret out dirt has not. We promise that there will be no canine resurrection until the job can be done well.

Body blow number two came when the poll revealed that many students feel that too many of the same names appear continuously in our news stories. Here we seem to be faced with an unsolvable problem. If we are to continue to report the news, then we will write about the men who make the news. If they are the same men story after story, then that means that those particular individuals are the ones who are making the news, and who deserve written credit for their work. If news reporting and chronicling is our business, then there is no other way out.

Feature stories involve a different situation. In these, the voice of all the students should and will be heard. We will continue to try to make our features the voice of student opinion. Polls will be more frequent; controversial problems will be referred first to the student, then his opinions will be tabulated and form the basis of our stand.

Finally, a word of sincere thanks for the response that has been given to our polls. Everyone has been willing, and even eager, to cooperate in filling out the forms and voicing their interest in school affairs. This represents a most healthy condition, and one that deserves stimulation. We will try to do our part in making the polls significant and frequent, and act on their results.

Revised A. B.?

While we have no intention of resurrecting the old argument of whether or not the study of Latin should be compulsory in a college curriculum, we cannot help but wonder whether there is sufficient differentiation in the Ph.B. and A.B. courses now offered at Loyola. There seems to be some evidence that Loyola's A.B. curriculum needs some revision.

At present, the sole difference between the A.B. and Ph.B. fields of endeavor consists in the former taking two years of Latin and the latter being subject to two years of Classical Literature.

Neither Economics, nor Sociology, nor Business Law, nor Music Appreciation, nor Architecture are included in the A.B. curriculum. While Science surely deserves a place in an Arts course, sight cannot be lost of some sort of hierarchical arrangement of subjects so that a large number of diverse courses receive proportionate treatment.

Enrollment in the A.B. course has been falling off rapidly. There must be a reason why students interested in the broadest type of preparation for graduate school choose Ph.B. or B.S. I in preference to the course which supposedly serves their interests the best.

PLACES TO GO THIS SUMMER:

Many people have difficulty in deciding where to spend their free time. Here is a brief resume of entertaining activities.

For Dancing, Gwynn Oak Park has the Dixie Ballroom, with Rudy Killian. . . . A fine danceable band. Bay Shore Park also offers dancing to Bill Slade and His Dance Combo.

The summertime offers conditions for swimming, so let's not forget Meadowbrook, Carlins, Lakewood, 5 Oaks, Oregon and the Public Park Pools, Bay Shore on the Bay, and other local and private shores.

If you care to roller skate Carlins and the Coliseum are still working this activity into their schedule.

Keep your eyes open for future name bands coming both to the Hippodrome and the Fifth Regiment Armory during the months of June and July.

In the event that you decide to stay at home, the radio is of great assistance.

Hidden Talent

Any question as to the existence of first class musical and comedy talent among undergraduates of this College was settled two weeks ago on Loyola Night. Over 1000 Loyolans, witnessing the first post-war revival of the annual big night in the Gymnasium were agreeably surprised at the two hours of entertainment provided.

The Evergreen Glee Club, under the direction of William Wiegand, performed most capably in spite of the poor acoustics of the Gym. Of particular note was their rendition of Dry Bones complete with sound effects by John Grimm.

All three of the comedy skits went over very well with the audience. In the first, a radio skit, the trio of Heffner, Herman and Kines acted out their own script.

In skit number two entitled If Men Played Cards As Women Do, four Loyolans who have provided "entertainment" in the same Gym on many occasions in the past (Wish Galvin, Tom Gisriel, Jim Lacy, and Sid Roche) kept the audience laughing when they followed the lines, and when (not infrequently) they ad libbed.

The last of the one-act plays, a burlesque of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, with Terrence Burke, Bob Custer, Spence Davidson, Gene Dettmer, Al Dunn, Frank Gallagher and Maurice Mackey in the acting positions, likewise went over in a big way, although suffering acutely from a poorly written script. This skit was helped along by the assistance of stage-hands Heffner, Herman and Kines, who carried off the victims of assassination and suicide with true efficiency.

In the evidently unanimous opinion of everyone attending, the hit of the evening was a freshman named William Mullikin. After his first number, which he sang in his original style to his own piano accompaniment, the audience applauded heartily for three minutes.

In the last act of the evening, Mullikin and Guy Nottingham, the M. C., did a dance routine in costumes of the Nineties. This, too, rated an encore.

For a finale, two songs from a musical comedy by the versatile Mr. Herman were sung by the entire cast.

On the whole, the affair was an excellent indication of what kind of acting material there is in the Student Body. Certainly in a group of undergraduates as large as the one here at Evergreen we can expect to find a large number of men capable of performing on the stage. Likewise we are singularly fortunate in having quite a few of well above average ability such as Mullikin, Herman, Nottingham and the three soloists with the Glee Club: Niles Fields, Jr., Joseph Rozmarynowski and William Wiegand.

This, we believe, holds true for many who have hidden talents in other fields such as oratory and literary endeavor. It is up to the individuals themselves to take advantage of the extra-curricular facilities here at Loyola in order to start on the road to renown and success.

Books

Another Part of the Forest—

Lillian Hellman

This play, which captivated Broadway last season, has been put into book form. Many Baltimoreans applauded the stage version when it played at the Maryland Theater. For those people who missed seeing the stage show the next best thing to do is to get the book and read it. You will not be disappointed.

Under the Volcano—

Malcolm Lowry

Here is a well written novel which combines the story of an alcoholic and of a marriage triangle. The story is developed with a very sober viewpoint. The author takes a firm stand and the book is an absolute challenge to modern living. It is so seldom that a book is written with a sensible rather than a so-called realistic viewpoint on the question of modern ethics that the book should be noticed if only to regain a balanced viewpoint.

Mrs. Mike—

Benedict and Nancy Freedman

Once more in Mrs. Mike we see a biographical novel that made good. The story is written about a Mrs. Michael Flannigan whose husband was one of the men who helped expand the Canadian north. It is a tale of love and devotion and describes well the woman's part in the development of America. This novel has been on the best-seller list for sometime and that alone is ample proof that the book is well worth reading.

The Emancipation of a Freethinker

—Richard Ellsworth Cory

The author of The Emancipation of a Freethinker travels the path from the shadow of unreality to the substance of true realism and faith; from the dismal wastes of barren, modern intellectualism to the seven fruitful hills of Rome. From Harvard and Johns Hopkins, from Santyana and Guttmacher, Cory emerged as a Thomist, a Maritainist, a Believer. One way exists to bring intellectual men back to God, that is by giving them intellectual evidence for His existence and His Divine Revelation to men. This is the gist for all who will read.

Running With The Hounds

by Spence Davidson

No GREYHOUND Sports Editor has even begun his tour of duty as the writer of this column more auspiciously than we. As we take over the job, the most successful Spring Season in Loyola athletics has just been completed. Three teams brought championship trophies to Evergreen to rest beside the basketball trophy won last winter. That gives us a chance to do nothing this issue but pat people on the back for the swell jobs they did during the season. And since we've noticed in the past that everyone thinks the Sports Editor is a pretty swell fellow when he praises, and the scum of the earth when he criticizes, that should start us off with a fine reputation—which may, with luck, last us throughout the coming year.

In all sincerity, though, we would like to add a few words in the way of congratulations to the baseball team, which won the Mason-Dixon championship since the last issue of the paper was published. The bat-and-ball boys turned in a fine record for the season, especially in conference play. They also succeeded in running up a twelve game winning streak, which is no mean trick.

As is the case with all teams, there were some players on the team who stood out, and it's only fair to give them a little extra notice. Tommy Lind, who started out at shortstop and ended up playing the hot corner, was the big gun in the Loyola attack. Tommy led the team in extra base hits, and hit so many homers during the season that he should have developed fallen arches after all of the base running he was forced to do.

Jack Whalen waved a big stick for the Hounds and sparkled on defense. The outfield trio of Spurrier, Amer and Boone was good in both departments. Above all, Lefty had a competent staff of pitchers to call on. Sid Roche, who was rounding out his collegiate athletic career, Neil Cole, Dick Farace, Bill Carroll, who turned in a no-hit performance against American University among other things, Dick Yeisley, John Evelius—all of them, and everyone else who's name we haven't mentioned, did their share in winning the title. We should also thank the University of Delaware for their important part in helping us win it.

The happiest note of the whole affair is the fact that the baseball team, like practically all of the teams this year, was composed mostly of underclassmen. All we can say is—if you think this year was good, wait till you see what happens next year.

Speaking of baseball, those of you who missed the Baltimore U. game played at Bugle Field, missed an argument in the best Durocher style. It happened in the seventh inning, with the Greyhounds at bat. Jack Whalen hit a single and then decided, with the help of one of Lefty Reitz's signals, to steal second. He overslid the bag and therein lies the story. Ump John Rankin, who was calling the play, decided he got back to the bag in time. Knobby Harris, who stands around second base for the Bees, felt that he had put the ball on Whalen while he was yards away from the bag. Not only did he think so, but he was quick to inform Rankin of the fact.

Getting no result with this line of argument, he switched tactics. First he informed the umpire that his vision wasn't what it should be and that his equipment should include dark glasses and a white cane. Then he went on to draw a comparison between Rankin and Billy the Kid which was definitely biased in favor of the latter.

Umps Rankin, who should have turned the other cheek, neglected to do so. Instead he raised his hand and in his best oratorical manner informed Harris that the showers were hot, the towels abundant, and the second base position in need of a substitute to fill it. Harris got the idea and departed.

This was too much for Coach Mike Skaff, who—in collaboration with his brother, Frankie—has cowed bigger and meaner umpires than Rankin in his time. Mike rushed to the spot so recently vacated by his second baseman, shoved his face against Rankin's and reviewed the situation in phrases we blush to think about. It was no good though. Ten minutes later Skaff admitted defeat and returned to his seat. Whalen got up from second—where he had been sitting while the debate went on above him, and an unidentified rookie took the place of the late lamented Knobby Harris. The game went on, but it was a badly shaken team which played it. The Bees threw wildly, forgot to cover bases and stood by helplessly as more Greyhounds ran amuck on the baselines. Which proves more than ever the wisdom of the famous phrase found on the wall of an ancient Aztec temple—"Why argue with the umpire when you've lost before you start?"

Skip Barry, No. 1, Greyhound goalie, stops a shot at the goal by No. 47, Blake, midfielder of the University of Virginia ten. Jack Blondell, No. 17, Loyola defenseman, does his share by throwing a body-check at Blake. The ball was deflected upwards out of the picture. Although Barry blocked this one, the Cavaliers sent seven other tries through him to take a close 7-6 game from the Greyhound lacrosse men.

Virginia Downs Stickmen In 7-6 Overtime Contest

Rebounding noticeably after a series of convincing defeats by its more renowned opponents, Loyola's rejuvenated lacrosse ten forced a stubborn University of Virginia team into overtime before succumbing, 7-6, in the third Saturday afternoon contest of the year at Evergreen.

It was easily the best performance Bish Baker's athletes have shown, and despite the loss, which was the seventh straight reversal of the campaign, the Indian enthusiasts gave indications that next spring will produce some more profitable stick work.

Stuart Wins Game

The scoreboard read 6-6 as the regulation time was completed, and two overtime sessions were played. The visitors scored what proved to be the deciding goal after four minutes of the first extra period when Zan Stuart, sub attackman, netted the ball with a neat flip that hit hard, high in the webbing.

Loyola had held a comfortable 4-1 advantage after the first period, as goalie Skip Barry checked the Virginians with a lone score. However, the pesky Southerners continued to generate a smooth functioning offense, and in the second chapter scored three times while the Hounds made but one.

Rogers Scores Twice

This 5-4 count in favor of the home team was converted into a 6-5 lead as each team garnered a single goal in the third session. In the final regulation period, however, Johnny Burch, visiting star who annexed high scoring laurels for the afternoon with three goals, sent the sphere whizzing past Barry to send the game into overtime and set the stage for Stuart's climatic effort.

Bobby Rogers led Loyolas point output with two; Hughes, Walker, Connolly, and DeVilbiss accounted for one each.

Fr. Herlihy's Secret of Coaching Success: Hair-Pulling Produced Champion Golf Team

by Tom Gisriel

From caddy to coach of a championship team—that, in plain words, is the story of the present Loyola College golf coach, the Rev. William V. Herlihy, S. J. As a youngster he caddied at the various courses in and around New York City, and it was here that he learned the rudiments and art of hitting and chasing that little white pellet, the golf ball.

After Father Herlihy entered the Jesuit Order, he continued playing at his favorite pastime. While in the philosophical school at Weston, Massachusetts, sunny afternoons would find him pulling his hair out on the various greens after his putts missed the cup by fractions of an inch. He began to wonder why he ever took up the sport.

Pulled His Hair

Wherever the Jesuit Order sent him, whether to Woodstock College or Bellarmine Hall, he could still be seen pulling his hair and wondering why he played. That is the main reason for his sturdy crop of hair; he has exercised it so much by pulling on it. As for his participation in the sport while here at Loyola, Fr. Herlihy smilingly states that "pressure of work forced me to partially retire six years ago when I arrived here".

Commenting on winning the Mason-Dixon Conference title, through eight straight matches and a tournament win, Fr. Herlihy said: "It is a great tribute to the interests and efforts shown by each and every member of the squad. Everyday you could find the aspiring Sneads and Hogans out on the links playing around or

Army All-Stars Defeat Loyola In 8-2 Contest

The Second Army All-Stars proved to be just that last Monday when they defeated the Greyhound baseball team by an 8-2 count. The soldiers touched Dick Farace, who took the mound for Loyola, for eleven hits. Jim Pysniak, the Army pitcher, held the Hounds to four.

The home team built up a first inning margin when they pushed four runs across the plate. They tallied another one in the fifth and picked up another three in the eighth, their last time at bat. Loyola was held scoreless until the final stanza, when they avoided a shutout by collecting two runs.

"Dan'l" Boone, Loyola right fielder, was the big stick of the Greyhound attack, accounting for two singles out of four times at bat. Jack Whalen hit the only extra base knock for the visitors with a long triple. Tommy Lind was responsible for the other bingle.

Farace was credited with three strikeouts and allowed five free trips to first. Pysniak fanned eleven and allowed only two walks to take credit for the win. The two teams will play a return game at Evergreen this afternoon at 2:30.

Best Players

Asked who played the most consistent golf in his opinion, Father answered "Ward Burgess, Leo Haslbeck and Leonard Saltysiak showed great form all season by constantly carding low scores. But the more noticeable improvement was to be seen in the lower bracket in the fourth, fifth and sixth positions as the season progressed."

The most difficult opponent, Father decided, was Georgetown University, which defeated Loyola 7-2. The most satisfying victory was that over George Washington University, which had previously handed the Greyhounds their only other defeat.

Great Expectations

Looking over team prospects for next year, Father Herlihy commented, "the men who played in the lower bracket showed promise of filling in the vacant places left by Burgess, Bernie Saltysiak, Bill Cahill and Jerry Crawford. With the summer ahead of us to work out the staleness left by time in the service, the prospects for next season look very good."

Four Teams In Season Finale Over Weekend

This afternoon at Evergreen the Loyola nine will play host to Fort Meade's baseball team. The game will get under way at 3:30 P. M.

The soldiers pride themselves in having one of the best service teams along the East coast. They will feature many big hitters and will have on hand their ace hurler, Modak.

Track

The Loyola thin-clads will have their last meet tomorrow after a layoff of three weeks since their victory over Towson Teachers. They journey to Philadelphia to meet St. Joseph's College, where they will be the decided underdogs. The Hawks will probably take most of the events but it is hoped that George Brown will win in the closely matched two mile jaunt.

Lacrosse

Bish Baker's lacrosse team will play host to Lehigh University here at Evergreen tomorrow. The Hounds have yet to enter the win column. Two weeks ago they dropped a tough one to University of Virginia in an over-time period, 7 to 6. This will be the first time that Loyola has ever played Lehigh in lacrosse and the boys are looking forward to giving them a tough fight.

Golf

After having captured the Mason-Dixon conference in golf, the Loyola linksmen will leave Baltimore today and be the guests of Scranton University in Pennsylvania. Loyola will send Leo Haslbeck, Len and Bernie Saltysiak, Tom Gisriel, and Ward Burgess. Father Herlihy's group should not have too much trouble in taking the boys from Scranton into camp, as the Evergreen team are considered the stronger contenders.

en recently among the student body.

This prize, the idea of which was instigated by former heavyweight champ Jack Dempsey, is being given in all the major colleges in the East in order to promote better and more sportsmanlike athletic activities in the inter-collegiate ranks.

Take Four Titles

Of equal importance will be the honoring of the basketball, baseball, tennis and golf squads, all of which were victorious in their respective Mason-Dixon Conference races. This four-ple stranglehold on league laurels is unparalleled in Evergreen athletic annals.

Faculty and student tickets have been priced at $1.75, while two dollars is the price for general admission. Tickets are on sale at the gym or Father Arthur's office. The athletes will naturally be admitted free, and they are requested to obtain their complimentary tickets before tomorrow.

Hounds Beat Baltimore U.

The Greyhound baseball team took a non-league home-and-home series from the University of Baltimore by scores of 6-3 and 5-1. In the first game, played at Bugle Field on May 23, Loyola scored two runs in the first, fifth, and seventh innings by piecing together ten hits and four errors committed by the home team.

Tommy Lind led the attack with three hits, one of them a 330 foot homer over the left field wall. He and John Amer also collected doubles, while Jack Whalen rapped out two singles during the afternoon. Farace was credited with the win.

The second game was held at Evergreen on May 28, and the Hounds had little trouble repeating the victory. Bill Carroll took the mound and held the Bees to six scattered hits. His mates, paced again by Lind, garnered four, but made them count.

Jack Whalen doubled in the initial inning with Spurrier on board to account for the first tally. He moved on to third and came home on a passed ball. Loyola scored again in the sixth when Lind raced home from third on a poor throw to first. With a mate on board in the eighth, Lind completed the scoring with a long homer to left field. Carroll chalked up ten strike-outs for the afternoon.

Villanova Nine Snaps Hounds Winning Streak

Held to three hits, two by Tommy Lind, Loyola's Greyhound baseball team found its twelve-game winning streak brought to an abrupt end as Villanova's ace hurler, Bill Smith, hurled the Wildcats to a 4-0 victory at Philadelphia.

The win kept the victors' unbeaten record at home intact at nine straight, and brought Loyola's season record to 16 wins and 7 defeats.

Roche, Carroll Hurl

Lefty Reitz nominated Sid Roche to handle the pitching duties for the visitors, and while he did pitch adequate ball, his five walks and a quartet of Loyola errors were instrumental in the reversal.

Freshman southpaw Bill Carroll took over in the seventh and yielded but three hits during his sojourn on the hill.

Lind Doubles, Triples

Lind, hard-hitting third baseman, smashed a double and a triple. Ben Spurrier contributed the only other Loyola safety when he singled in the third frame. Dan Casey, lead-off man for the winners, collected three hits to pace the offense.

Greyhound Nine Trims St. Joe By 10-6 Margin

Adding their eighteenth victory against seven defeats during a championship season, the Loyola baseball nine knocked over Saint Joseph's College last Saturday afternoon on the losers diamond at Philadelphia. The score was 10 to 6. In their last encounter earlier in the season here at Evergreen, the Philadelphians took the Green and Gray team into camp 3 to 1.

Neill Cole was the winning pitcher for Loyola, with help from Sid Roche. Cole allowed only one walk and struck out seven batters while on the mound. He went six and one-third innings, giving up eleven base knocks. Roche allowed two walks during his time on the rubber.

Loyola Scores First

Tommy Lind was the big hitter for the day, with four hits in four trips to the plate. Ben Spurrier, Jack Whalen and Harry Shock accounted for two base hits apiece. Johnny Amer, Dan Boone and Jim Carmody each added a base hit for the day. During the nine innings, the Hounds scattered thirteen hits for their ten runs.

Loyola opened the scoring in the second inning with two runs and added four more in the fourth. It wasn't until the fifth stanza that St. Joe scored, then for two runs. In the Greyhounds half of the sixth, they added three more runs and St. Joe accounted for one. The Philadelphians had their big rally in the seventh inning with three runs, but it wasn't enough to overcome the Loyola lead. This was their last scoring for the day. The Hounds knocked one more in the ninth, clinching the game 10 to 6.

For St. Joe, Harding was the losing pitcher and he was relieved by Dudick and Ramsey.

B Squad

The B Squad baseball team, coached by Ned Stevenson, has begun its schedule. The junior nine played a 3-3 game with Loyola High School two weeks ago, which was called at the end of the ninth.

They have arranged a home and home schedule with two other teams, Strayer's Business College and the Veterans' Institute. Two games were played this week and the other two will be played next week. Monday they entertain the Vets at home and Tuesday they tangle with Strayers at Clifton Park. According to Coach Stevenson other games may be arranged at a later date. A fuller write-up of their activities will appear in the next issue of THE GREYHOUND.

Three Greyhound Teams Are Champions

Loyola College fielded teams in five sports during the Spring season. Three of the five—the baseball, golf and tennis teams—have been declared champions of the Mason-Dixon Conference in their particular sport. In order to give due recognition to each team for their part in making this the most successful season Loyola has ever enjoyed athletically, THE GREYHOUND presents below a resume of each team's activities. The coaches of these teams are also to be congratulated. For freshmen coaches The Rev. William V. Herlihy, S. J., and Vince Colimore, it was a winner on the first try. For Lefty Reitz it was his second title this year. For all concerned, it was a job well done.

Baseball

Adding the third trophy for the current spring season here at Loyola, the baseball team ended its Mason Dixon schedule by trouncing Towson State Teachers 12 to 5. The Greyhounds won the title by virtue of Washington College's loss to Delaware 3 to 1. The Hounds won 13 Mason Dixon contests and dropped only three.

In a non-conference game with Georgetown, the Loyola nine lost their first game by a score of 10 to 4. St. Joseph's was the next team to knock over Loyola by a 3 to 1 margin. In the first conference game, the Hounds, led by the pitching of Bill Carroll, came through to spill Catholic University 3 to 2. At Georgetown, the Hoya's again defeated the Greyhounds by an 8 to 3 count. The next day, Gallaudet fell before the hitting power of Loyola by virtue of a 16 to 3 score.

Western Maryland Defeated

Western Maryland, which before the season was considered a very strong contender for the conference crown, was next in line to fall at the hands of Loyola. The Hounds, behind the pitching of Sid Roche, clubbed out 12 runs, while Western Maryland collected only six.

In a double header played at Chestertown Maryland, Washington College collected the two games by scores of 12 to 4 and 6 to 1. The city rival, Hopkins, was dropped by the Loyola nine 14 to 12. The Greyhounds lost their last conference game to Catholic University 5 to 2.

Eleven Straight Wins

From the early part of May till the end of the regular season, Loyola was never defeated again. The Hounds won the final eleven games. Randolph-Macon, La Salle twice, Gallaudet, Western Maryland, Hopkins, Mt. St. Mary's twice, American University twice, and Towson State Teachers all fell at the hands of the baseball nine at Loyola.

Johnny Amer led the Loyola team for the highest average in knocking out base hits with .294. Next in line was Dan Boone with .271, followed by Jack Whalen and Tommy Lind, each with an average of .263. Eddie McGarry scatted base hits for a .244; closely behind him was Jack Wintz with .241. Ben Spurrier accounted for a .236, while Jim Carmody hit out .216 average.

Among the pitchers, Sid Roche and Dick Yeisley led the batting with a .500 mark. Neil Cole, Franny Fick, Johnny Evelius all came out with a .333 average. Dick Farace knocked out a .294 and Dick Hartman followed with .200.

Golf

This season's golf team has been one of the best ever produced at Loyola College. The team won nine of its eleven matches. Eight of these victories were in Mason-Dixon competition, in which the Hounds were undefeated. By capturing the Mason-Dixon league tournament, the Greyhound linksmen were crowned champs and received the conference trophy.

The only two defeats which Loyola suffered were administered by the long hitting Hoyas of Georgetown University and by the steady shotmakers of George Washington University. Of all their victories, the one that pleased the Loyola golfers most was the comeback win over George Washington a week later. This second match was a close contest throughout and wasn't decided until the eighteenth hole.

The Loyola golfers also defeated Western Maryland College, Washington College, and Mount St. Mary's College, each of them twice. Johns Hopkins and the University of Baltimore both fell victims to the Hounds once.

The wonder boys and most consistent golfers were Ward Burgess, Leo Haslbeck and Len Saltysiak. These three shot about equal golf and were in the seventies most of their matches. The other members of the team—Bernie Saltysiak, Bill Davis, Tom Gisriel, Bill Cahill, Jerry Crawford and Frank Catania steadily improved throughout the season and captured many important points.

Tennis

Fifteen victories in sixteen contests constitute a fine record in any man's league. Consider that this compilation was achieved against both conference and non-league rivals alike, and the mark becomes even more laudable.

Yet that, in summary, is the outstanding record of the 1947 Loyola tennis team, which climaxed its very successful campaign by being crowned net kings of the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Lose Only To Hoyas

In the early spring, hopes weren't too high for a champ team, for although Vince Colimore was well versed in the intricacies of the sport and was fully qualified to handle the coaching reins, the team itself did not appear to be ready to snatch a collegiate title in its maiden post-war essay.

Nevertheless, the team played tennis consistently well, and won consistently. Only Georgetown University, midway through the season, was able to mar the squad's record, defeating the Hounds, 5-2.

Thaler Dependable

Bill Thaler, who won the intra-squad tourney, assumed the number one position from the start, and dropped only one singles match, that to his neighborhood rival, Kenny Volk, in a very close tilt, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. His usual dependable play was in evidence all year.

Frank Scrivener and Jerry Laroque both turned in winning performances as they played number two and three, respectively. The south-paw Scrivener and the orthodox Laroque also played together often in the doubles department.

Lacy Unbeaten

Undefeated member of the team through the year in the singles section was basketball ace Jim Lacy, who captured all 16 matches and was defeated only once in doubles, in which he and Bill Thaler teamed through the year.

Gene Nolan held on to his number five post steadily, showing noticeable improvement as the year moved along. Bob Miller and Joe Thaler alternated at the sixth slot in singles, and Bob Roesser was frequently in action in the doubles.

Tommy Lind, Greyhound third sacker, heads for the plate after hitting a home-run ball against the University of Baltimore at Evergreen. With a mate on board in the last of the eighth, Lind sent one of pitcher Serio's offerings into the bushes beside the Gymnasium in left field, a distance of 380 feet on the fly. Chuck D'Ambrosio, Bee's catcher, waits for the throw. Loyola downed Baltimore by a 5-1 score.

Linksmen Place Third In State Golf Tourney

Playing on the long 6,521 yard North Severn Course in Annapolis, Maryland, the Loyola golf team took third honors in the Maryland State Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Navy retained its title by taking first place with a four-man team total of 636 strokes for the 36 holes. Navy also captured the medalist cup. The University of Maryland, which won the Western Maryland Invitation Tournament at Westminster two weeks ago, was second with 672. Loyola placed third, carding a 676 total. Other colleges that participated were Johns Hopkins, Mount St. Mary's and the University of Baltimore.

Loyola's individual scoring for 36 holes was:

Len Saltysiak	82-81-163
Bernie Saltysiak	86-82-168
Leo Haslbeck	87-83-170
Ward Burgess	84-91-175

The Saltysiak brothers, Ben and Bernie, shot the most consistent golf in the tournament, posting eighteen hole totals in the low 80's.

Ed. Note—In an attempt to answer the many questions asked concerning golf terms and scoring, Tom Gisriel, who performs for both the golf team and THE GREYHOUND Sports Staff, explains below some of the terms used.

There are two methods of playing competitive golf. One is medal play; the other is match play. In medal play the winner is decided by the lowest score for the eighteen holes played. This system is followed in tournaments.

In match play the winner is recorded for each hole on the strength of the lowest score for that hole, and the final winner is the player who has taken the most holes. For example, if player A wins the first hole and player B wins the second, the two are all even with one win apiece going into the third hole.

This system is followed in team matches and accounts for such scores as 4 and 3, 2 and 1 or 1 up. In the case of a 4 and 3 score, A won four more holes than B with only three remaining holes to play. Thus B cannot possibly win, for even if he took the remaining three the match would still be over with A ahead.

Club News:

Hibernation
Sets In

Many extra-curricular clubs at the college have been forced into hibernation during the Spring Term due to the conflicting schedules of their members.

A few of the clubs are planning limited activity. Thomas Comber, president of the Chess Club, reports that there will be at least two more chess matches before the end of the Spring Term.

Accounting Club Elections

The results of the Accounting Club elections held in late May are as follows: John Anderson was elected president; C. C. Beam, vice-president; James Fisher, secretary. A meeting is to be held soon to decide whether the club will be able to continue activity during the Spring.

George Buchness, president of the Chemistry Club, and James O'Neill, president of the Math and Physics Clubs, have stated that all activities of the two clubs have been suspended until September.

Glee Club Suspended

The Glee Club and the Dramatics Society have not as yet planned any future production. No reports have been received from the IRC or History Academy. Election results of the Debating Society are recorded on page 1.

A.S.N., Jesuit Honor Fraternity, held elections on May 11, induction day for the newly admitted members. The results were: George Buchness, president; Terrence Burke, secretary; Dudley Shoemaker, treasurer. President Buchness stated that plans were being made to hold induction of new members sometime in November.

Mendel Club Plans
Reunion At Banquet

The annual banquet of the Mendel Club was held on Sunday, May 18, at Welsh's Black Bottle restaurant.

The banquet, conducted in informal style, was unanimously attended by all nineteen of the Club's members. Addresses were made by the Rev. Joseph Didusch, S.J., moderator of the Club, and Raymond Clemmens, retiring president.

A resolution was passed at the banquet that all members would meet for a reunion precisely one year from the date of the banquet. Mendel Club officers for the next term will be elected in September. All Club activities have been suspended for the Spring Term.

Membership in the club is restricted to those students taking Fr. Didusch's Biology course.

Students Suggest
Campus Changes

by William Heffner

In his campaign speeches, Dudley Shoemaker, new president of the Student Body, promised improvements around the College, including the now famous door knob on the phone booth. THE GREYHOUND, in conjunction with the new president's inauguration on Loyola Night, queried a number of students informally about the changes they would like to have made.

Jim Edelen wants the tennis courts patched up. "When Western Maryland beat us, we at least would like to say they beat us on good courts."

Bill McInnis agrees with him, and goes even further. "Why not convert the handball courts into tennis courts. Nobody uses them anyway, and we certainly need some more courts around here."

General Assemblies Suggested

"The P. A. system is a good idea," McInnis continued, "I'd also like to see general assemblies instituted — for entertainment, speech or oratorical contests, and so forth. This would go far toward helping school spirit."

Better representation for all classes, and for the Freshmen particularly is urged by Jack Pryor. "The Student Council should be in more direct contact with the students, with each class having better representation."

Gerald Uhlhorn wants more time for labs. "You can't get finished in the time now allotted," he asserts. Tom Comber wants a tunnel between the buildings. "On rainy days and in the winter you park your coats in the Science Building and sally forth to the Library Building exposed to the weather. Some connection should be made between the three buildings. A sidewalk between the Library Building and tennis courts leading to Cold Spring Lane is also a good idea. The fellows are using it anyway as a highway, and the grass is wearing thin."

Better Election System Urged

Vince Profili wants more telephones on the campus, jukeboxes in the Rec Room and cafeteria, and more benches around the grounds, particularly around the tennis courts.

Ed Hellerman claims that the present election system is inadequate. "Nobody even knows who they are voting for in the class elections any more. Many of the fellows never even saw the president of their class. A nominating and election system should be inaugurated whereby everybody gets a chance to see and hear the candidates and their views."

After The Plays Were Over

The audience of Loyola Night trips the you-know-what after the entertainers have had their say. Over 1000 persons attended the Variety Show, which began at 8:30. Many of those with dates stayed for the 11 p.m.—1 a.m. dance. (See story page 4)

Gym Recreation Room To Be Converted Into Cafeteria

Plans to convert the Gymnasium recreation room into a substitute temporary cafeteria until the completion of the Gym addition were announced last week by Rev. Robert P. Arthur, S.J., Dean of Discipline.

"Present cafeteria facilities are not adequate to handle the influx of students expected in September," said Fr. Arthur, "and the Gymnasium addition will definitely not be completed by September. We expect the rec room caf to handle the overflow."

The new cafeteria will handle soft drinks, ice cream, milk, soup, cake, and other short order foods. No hot dishes will be available.

The new caf is expected to handle about 200 students daily, and cater especially to those who bring their lunches and desire only a beverage and dessert.

The temporary buildings, to be used for classrooms and teachers' offices, will also be ready for occupancy before September, Fr. Arthur announced. It is expected that a large percentage of the students attending classes in the temporary structures will dine in the recreation room cafeteria.

Bridge Club
Seeks Members

The rooms and corridors of old Evergreen will soon be resounding with a new language. Not only will English, Latin, French, German and Spanish words and phrases be spoken in these halls of learning, but soon "Four no-trump, doubled and vulnerable, with one overtrick" or perhaps "Three and a half honor count, a seven card suit, and the sucker wouldn't even bid!" will vie for the undergraduates' study and attention.

Yes, Contract Bridge has invaded Loyola! The ancient game of whist, which at the turn of the century was being played as auction bridge at countless tea-parties and card-nights, and the game that Eli Culbertson made into a national indoor pastime as "contract," has established a foothold. With such stalwarts as Dudley Shoemaker, Bob Custer, Bill Schanberger, and many others sweating out "A five bid in a minor suit! Good night, partner, why didn't you leave this at three no-trump?", bridge seems to have had an enthusiastic reception here.

Club Organized

A bridge club has been formed, and the first meeting was held Friday, May 22 in room 201. Quite a few aspirant "aces" turned out. New members are welcome, and are urged to drop in at THE GREYHOUND office and signify their desire to play. If you are an expert, there is expert competition; and if you're strictly a neophyte, there are those who will change you from a novice to a superior player, so it is claimed. As an aside to the veteran, playing bridge is an interesting, enjoyable and very inexpensive way to entertain or spend an evening.

So, if someone is heard mumbling into a "coke" in the cafe, "The bum had one honor count, a singleton in my suit, and he raised me! he should drop dead!", that someone is not an escaped inmate of Mt. Hope, but merely a bridge fan.
